Service feeding the viewer is updated with the right symbology. I also added what I saw to be three mobile runs today – 11AM, 330PM, 545pm

I don't see any mobile runs for yesterday and the April 21st data doesn't look right to me so I removed it.

From what was reported from the field there should have just been one around noon but I don't think things got transmitted correctly.

There are a lot of runids with no data in between the ones that do have data. Just a heads up it can get confusing for the data managers offsite. I am not sure what would cause this.

Thanks.
